Docket E-01345A-07-0663
T-01846B-07-0663

Dear Judge and Commissioners,

I'm a homeowner at Hillcrest Bay and I am in support of the Underground Utility Conversion Area decision that is in front of you.

Hillcrest Bay is a unique piece of real estate because it is surrounded on three sides by natural, precious land. The Bill Williams Reserve which is home to plant and animal life protected by our federal government, BLM property and of course the delicate Colorado River feeding into Lake Havasu out our back doors. This is a matter of eliminating the spider web of lines and additional poles that will be added to the front of our property along with the old wooden poles in the back of our property that will remain. The fact is, telephone poles are falling in the street, they are 30 years old, it's an antiquated system, and additional metal poles are slated on APS overhead redesign drawings which I have seen. That equates to nearly 1 pole for every 2 lots, this is ridiculous.

There are people in favor and people opposed, some opposed have stooped to childish name calling and finger pointing. The majority of the homeowners want the utilities underground. This is a good long term improvement to our neighborhood. And a one shot opportunity. Economy is cyclical; payments will likely not being for another year and a half. Judge Harpring asks if the cost is economically feasible, in fact, my financial situation has changed drastically since the beginning of this project. Albeit, I know the long term positive effect both economically and environmentally that putting the utilities underground has for each and every one of us. I needn't remind you that the Underground committee has gone to extensive lengths to help homeowners in real need of financial assistance. Everybody has a right to their opinion. However, I would hate to see the Underground Utility project that the majority of homeowners have petitioned in favor of get overruled based on a few squeaky wheels putting information out there that in many cases is simply not accurate. Thank you.

Respectively,
